THE HARDANGER BRIDGE opened on August 17th 2013, replacing the ferry connection between Bruravik and Brimnes and reducing the time it takes to drive from Bergen/Voss to Eidfjord. The bridge is a 2 lane suspension bridge with sidewalks for pedestrians and bikers. It is the longest suspension bridge in Norway. The main span is 1310 metres and the total length is 1380 meters, even longer than the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco!
